Amoco open house tonight

CALGARY--Amoco Canada Petroleum Company Limited has announced an open house for Elk Point area residents, to be held at the Elk Point Elks Hall, on Wednesday, July 25, from 5:00 to 9:00 p.m.

"We hope to provide information about the history of our heavy oil operations at Elk Point and to discuss our plans for further development," said District Foreman, Ron Johnson.

The company's Phase One approval for the Elk Point properties expires in February, 1991, so the open house will serve as the start of the public consultation process for a Phase Two application Amoco Canada wishes to develop.

"I don't want to leave the impression that the detailed activity of Phase Two is a certainty at the moment," Johnson noted. "It is more a matter of having the application in and obtaining Alberta Energy Resources Conservation Board (ERCB) approval, so development can take place in line with crude oil prices and other economic factors. We do not foresee any sudden increase in our Elk Point project activity."

Amoco Canada drilled its first well near Elk Point in 1981 and moved to more active development of the properties in 1985 following ERCB approval of the Phase One application. Over the ensuing years, development has been accomplished at a controlled pace, largely dictated by oil prices. In September, 1988, Amoco Canada merged with Dome Petroleum Limited, thus acquiring Dome's interests in the nearby Lindbergh heavy oil field. The combined production from these two sets of properties makes them Amoco Canada's largest source of oil production.

Memorial Fund Established

The Alex Kurash Memorial Fund, established in memory of late hockey coach and minor hockey supporter, Alex Kurash, was boosted by a $ 500 donation from the Elk Point PeeWee Hockey team, who received that sum as part of their Rotary Club Fair Play Award last spring. Louise Kurash, chairperson of the Fund's selection committee, accepts the cheque from PeeWee Coach Ron Dunlop, while Al Pankiw, Director, and Dave Kenyon, President of Elk Point Minor Hockey, look on. The award will be given annually to the Pee Wee hockey player who shows the most improvement and will include a showcase trophy to remain in the arena and a replica for the recipient. Donations to the Memorial Fund may be made at the Toronto Dominion Bank or to Elk Point Minor Hockey.

Raw water study shows river best bet

Elk Point Town Council was presented with their Municipal Raw Water Supply Study by Gordon Fuerst, P. Eng., of Stanley Associates Engineering Ltd., at Monday's regular meeting. The conclusions drawn from the study show the North Saskatchewan River as the most reliable source for a long term raw water supply for the town.

A number of possible sources were studied, including ground water, surface sources and pipelines. From 6 to 18 wells would be necessary to supply ground water, depending on which of three possible aquifers was chosen, and could cost in excess of $ 1.5 million to drill the wells and provide the necessary pumps and pipeline. Even then, the water could prove to be unsuitable due to high iron content, as this is a prevalent problem in the area.

The town's source of water in recent years, Atimoswe Creek, was studied, but since there is no way to increase the unpredictable flow of this watercourse, the only way to insure adequate supplies of creek water would be to build an additional raw water reservoir. Past problems have already shown this water to be difficult and expensive to treat, as well as having a potential for damage to the plant.

The study also considered a pipeline hooked into the line which fills St. Paul's water supply, Lac St. Cyr, from the North Saskatchewan, but the lengthy pipeline required would cost well over $ 2 million. A possible future water line, which would stretch from the river to Bonnyville, to serve the oil industry, was also in the study but it was felt that this was too far in the future to be listed as a potential source at this time.

The North Saskatchewan River was therefore deemed the most adequate and reliable source. A permanent pipeline buried below the frost line, plus the necessary right of way and portable pumps, such as have been used for recent emergency pumping, would cost in the neighborhood of $ 815,000, and would provide a supply of easily treated water, sufficient to serve the needs of the town, even if the population grows to 2500 in future years.

One of the ground water sources, a gravel terrace near the river, with water of similar quality to the river, was listed as a good future source, if needed, although it would be costly to obtain.

Seventy five percent of the cost of the raw water supply study will be funded by the Provincial government.

Council also discussed their proposed utility line and street upgrading program with Fuerst, who suggested a two hour workshop, at which he could sit down with Council or the Utilities Committee and study the needs for this upgrading in depth. He feels the Town should do this work one block at a time and totally revamp that block before proceeding to another. The four avenues from 51 Avenue to 54 Avenue, from 50 Street east to Highway 41, are being considered for this upgrading.

Conceptual plans for a new Community Services Centre were also on the agenda. Fuerst suggested the Town go straight to an architectural firm to get this done. Council later agreed to contact the firm of Brinsmead, Zayola to obtain a breakdown of costs for plans and a scale model, and to find out what facts and figures the firm would require in order to go ahead with this work. The existing Community Services Project Committee was asked to set terms of reference for an extended committee, which would include members from the public sector.

The people of Elk Point will enjoy a holiday on Heritage Day, August 6. Mayor Bruce Kleeberger proclaimed that day as a civic holiday, with the approval of Council, at Monday's meeting.

Council set a very high goal of having their 1991 Operational Budget complete by January 1. November 15 has been set as the date for submission of department operational and capital budget requirements to the Finance and Administrative Committee.

Continued development at the Recreation Land is planned, with the Town recently in receipt of the $ 10,000 Recreation, Parks and Wildlife grant. Half of this will go toward a water supply for the Rec Land and the other half toward construction of a playground at the site. Council gave approval to partial completion of the twelve campsites at the Rec Land, with weeds to be removed from the sites, additional surface material to be provided, if necessary, and fire pits to be ordered. The Town is awaiting response from Alberta Recreation and Parks regarding availability of picnic tables and outhouses from them, before considering obtaining these from another source. Four picnic tables will be ordered for the picnic shelter. Alberta Transportation will be contacted regarding signage to direct the public to the campsite.

Council approved the Satellite Day Homes rural provider homes service contract, with amendments suggested by the County of St. Paul No. 19. A restructured fee schedule for the day care homes was also approved, which will make it more advantageous, cost wise, to use the service on a full time basis, at $ 275 per month (an increase of $ 10 from the present cost) than to use it part time at $ 15 per day (formerly $ 13.50 per day). Full time users will be asked to prepay, which will assure their child's space for every day of the month, while part time users will be billed for the days used at the end of the month. The equivalent cost for part time care, using the average 21.67 days per month, would be $ 325. The restructured fee schedule will go into effect October 1, 1990.

The Playschool Operations Manual is also undergoing revision, with the main change being the addition of a two-tier fee schedule, with parents who will sign up to volunteer help and provide snacks when required being charged $ 25 per month per child, and those who choose not to do so being charged $ 35.

The Town will be looking for an additional member for the Community Services Board, following the resignation of John Emery, who has been transferred to Calgary. Seventeen months remain of Emery's two year term on the board.

Senior Champions

Ladies' Open Winners

Top Junior Golfers

Sun shines on golf tourney

Elk Point Golf and Country Club ordered up fair weather for their second Golf Tournament of the season, and had a much warmer and sunnier day for the Seniors, Ladies and Juniors than they did for the Men's Open in early June.

In the neighborhood of fifty golfers took part in Sunday's tourney, which concluded with an excellent barbecue supper and the presentation of trophies and prizes.

Roger McMillan took the Seniors' Championship flight, with his 76 score just one point ahead of Ed Buck, who placed second. The Seniors' First Flight winner was Fred Horn, while Pug Young was second, and in the Second Flight, Jim Letawski took the trophy and Bill Bespalko placed second.

Pearl Bespalko shot a 77 to win the Ladies' Championship Flight, with Kay Harper winning a chipoff with Anne Letawski to take second place. Liz Poitras was the Ladies' First Flight winner, with another chipoff, this time with Evelyn Babcock, giving Lillian Young second place.

Willie John Had the top score of the day, a 72, to win the Junior Championship, with Mark Wiebe just 3 strokes behind to take second place. Jacques Plouffe was the Juniors First Flight winner with an 82, and also was named the Under 12 Champion for a trophy donated by Ron and Grace Barwick. Todd Youngmans won a chipoff with Tyson Stafford to take second in the flight. Mark Woytkiw was the Juniors Second Flight winner, with Jeff Lypka second.

A number of other prizes were given out for various accomplishments during the day of golf, including a prize for each category's longest drive, these were won by Steve Shmyr, Ruby Babcock and Tyson Stafford.

Hole In One

Golf Club President Ed Buck congratulates Pearl Bespalko, who made a hole in one on Hole Number 6 earlier this season. Mrs. Bespalko has donated this handsome trophy, so that other golfers with similar accomplishments can have their names recorded for posterity along with her own.

Fun In The Forest

Community Services Director Stephen Montgomery and summer staff members Tracy Boothman and Wanda Lawrence led the Fun In The Sun gang on a nature hike down the Elk Point Rec Land trails last week. They saw beaver dams, gathered various plant materials, and generally enjoyed their afternoon roaming the Atimoswe Creek valley. They had time for just one picture before they headed out to keep a date with a beaver.

Historical society delays park opening

The official opening and dedication of Elk Point's Historical Mural Park has been delayed to next year, instead of taking place on the Heritage Day weekend. While work is proceeding well on the project, "we're not ready to show it off yet," Project Manager, Sheila Thompson, told the Historical Society last week.

Paved walkways were completed early and under budget, and a bridge was in place across the creek before July 1. A fountain donated by the Royal Canadian Legion has been set in place and surrounded by blooming plants. However, considerable work remains on the project, including landscaping, installing a fence and lighting in front of the mural, planting trees, and installing picnic tables and benches. Several donations, in addition to the fountain, have been gratefully received. The Canadian Salt Company has donated $300, while Letourneau Farm Supplies, Ford Motor Corporation, and Toronto Dominion Bank have contributed $200 each. All of these businesses are represented on the mural.

The Canada Day Float Committee was praised for their prize winning efforts, although Committee chairperson, Sid Holthe, said that he still wishes a new trailer could have been purchased, which would have made the float sufficiently roadworthy to take to other towns for their parades. He also noted that members should keep their eyes open for improved artifacts to decorate the float in the future. A secure storage place has been found to keep the float until next year. The prize money received from the Lioness Club will be donated back to them, in keeping with Historical Society tradition.

Farm with care

Ahh...the rural life. It's calm, it's peaceful, there's no life to compare. But don't forget—it can be dangerous.

When a farmer goes out and gets on his tractor in the morning, the last thing he's thinking about is getting hurt or killed. But when he starts it up, hooks on to the appropriate piece of machinery and takes off to the field, he takes that risk with him. Steep hills can cause a tractor or combine to roll over. Unplugging a baler pickup, without turning off the power source, can cause the loss of an arm, or more. Jumping on or off a moving combine to check if grain is being thrown over, riding on the back of the drill to make sure the grain is going where it should, checking pulleys and gears while machines are running are all common things that farmers do—and sometimes get injured or killed in the process.

Not all the risks are mechanical. Herbicides and pesticides are hazardous to humans as well as to their intended victims. Contact with the liquids or breathing in the vapor could cause problems immediately or in the future. Anhydrous ammonia fertilizer is extremely toxic, if it escapes and is inhaled by the user. Even a small amount of moldy grain can cause health problems for the farmer who encounters it without a mask.

Also, one does not have to go out to the field to get into difficulties. The farmyard is a dangerous place, if one does not observe safety rules. Grain augers are dangerous, both in use and in transport. The fast-moving are just sitting there waiting to claim a victim who uses the machine carelessly, and power lines are just hanging there ready to electrocute you, if you push your auger under them without looking up to see if the necessary clearance is there.

Animals can also be dangerous. Anyone who has seen a bull pawing and snorting in his corral or seen a wary mother cow protecting her newborn calf knows that. Animals react to fear by fighting back and they may perceive that their enemy is you—even if it is really the farmyard dog who is hiding behind you.

Children are often the victims of farm accidents, because they are where they shouldn't be in the first place. It is hard to resist the plea of a child who wants to go for a ride on the tractor, or the swather, or the combine with you. Sometimes it is easier for you to take that child with you than to find someone to look after him or her. But the parents of children who have been run over or otherwise mutilated by farm equipment know that if they had a second chance, they would say no to that child, or find a sitter...whatever the cost. No amount of money can replace a life or a severed limb, or pay for the suffering an injured child endures.

Using guards on machinery, taking time to maintain machinery properly, wearing protective clothing, getting help when needed may cost you money and time. But remember, your life and your health have no price tag.

Take care—your family needs and loves you.

Down To The Sea Again

The tide was low, as we visited the ocean shore, gulls wheeling, Victoria rising beyond.

Alberta Trails

On to Victoria

By Irene Magnusson

Part of my June visit to British Columbia included plans to go to Victoria, on Vancouver Island, where I have a brother, three sisters-in-law, and numerous other relatives. Calling ahead, I determined I'd be welcomed.

As anyone knows, to reach the Island, one takes a 'canoe' in order to cross 'the big slough', or, in proper terms, a B.C. ferry to cross over that part of the Pacific Ocean between the huge island and the mainland, which is called the Strait of Georgia.

By various means, mostly involving pestering my family members (who rigidly refused to point me to a bus), I had worked my way westerly, from Sardis to Langley, where we had a brief visit with my uncle Bert Hobden, and his wife Ruth, in the large seniors' complex where they now reside. Aunt Ruth seemed quite frail, but in good health and bright and alert, but Uncle Bert seems never to change. A frisky 93 this month, he showed us hooked rugs he had made, told jokes, threatened to leave the Lodge and "come back to Elk Point and buy a house", and it would indeed be nice if they were closer. I think he would regret the move, some January morning, when the temperature went way down and the snow piled up.

From Langley, back to Port Moody, then on to brother Jimmy's home in Richmond. I thought it could be a noisy night, as his home is on Lulu Island, only a mile or two from the Vancouver airport, but in truth I only heard one aircraft while I was there.

Fortunately for me, Jimmy, who is a Captain on a Fraser River coast-guard boat, had just come off night shift, and so had a few days off.

We drove about, looking at various city scenes, boats, bridges, the river. We went over to the Airport, to a building nearby, where my sister Grace's daughter works. Some of you may remember Kathy Lyon, who stayed with us here on the farm, and went to school in Elk Point for a year, back in 1968-69. We spent a pleasant hour, over breakfast in the restaurant, catching up on the news. A short visit to see Jimmy's new grandson, over in Surrey (another Grant Arnold), then we drove south to Tsawassen and the ferry terminal.

I say south, because the map so indicates; it could have been any direction, as far as my 'homing' instinct went. Anyone who could stick a name like that on a place really has to have a mean streak.

Here we had lunch, got my ticket, and walked a short half-mile up the ramp to the ferry. It was a lovely sunny day, as were almost all my days in B.C., but I had a cold coming on, so was not my usual bright and cheery self.

Although we could see the clean white point of Mount Baker, over in Washington (40 or 50 miles away?), and I snapped away at it, it did not take on my film. I had this experience before, but had forgotten it.

We wove our way over the blue water, among the islands, I again thinking we were headed west, but the map says almost south, until we landed at Swartz Bay, where I got on a Pacific Coachline Bus to go (to me) north, to arrive in Victoria, which is, in fact, precisely south of Swartz Bay. I'm not sure why my directions become so disoriented, for I've been in B.C. many times, but the sun never comes up where it should, there are no squared-off fencelines, but most likely it's my personal gyroscope that gets out of kilter. Oh well, someone always finds me if I'm lost, in this case, the bus driver.

My brother Norman met me, and we were soon turning in to his and Molly's lovely home on Summit Avenue. In the evening we walked up to the 'summit', a height of land, topped with a 'wilderness' park, a reservoir, and an excellent view of the city below.

Norman, retired now, still keeps his hand in with a bit of carpentry, at present an inlaid wood chair. His handmade, all-wood grandfather's clock stands tall (6 feet?) in the den, but he complains that it responds to humidity in the atmosphere and isn't as reliable at telling time as it is at being an amazing piece of work. Other interests include gardening and bird-watching. The giant housecat, Billy Joe, still stalks about, sure of his niche in the scheme of things.

We drove to the sea, lying deceptively quiet, sparkling in the sun, and watched the gulls and terns gracefully sweeping over the rocks and driftwood. A few sailboards dotted the bay, and, far out, the larger boats. So peaceful and serene, it was hard to believe the surging city mounding over the hills behind us.

Later, I visited my sister-in-law Alice and her daughters, and my cousin Stan Hobden and Elsie. I wasn't able to visit Mariette, my brother Laurence's widow, but had a pleasant talk on the phone with her.

Norman pointed out where a 'heritage home' had been salvaged from destruction, and moved down the tree-lined streets to a new location, and we saw the workmen busy at restoring the historic building, where it will no doubt become a museum. Also pointed out to me was the house where our Uncle Harold Hobden lived for a few years, in Victoria, after leaving the Navy at the end of World War II.

Everywhere we travelled, the scenes were bright with flowers, greenery and trees. One tall tree caught my eye, and I was told it was one of only a few giant redwoods (or sequoia) planted years ago in Victoria.

Almost voiceless with laryngitis on my last day, I didn't perhaps enjoy the bus ride as I might have, back to the ferry. I did notice the rolling farm lands along the way, with cattle here and there, and the signs indicating Butchart's Gardens, the world-famous remodeled rock quarry, which has been filled with a sea of beauty, flowers and shrubs, trees and aviaries. This is a beauty spot in the world I had hoped to visit, at least once in my lifetime, but I'm sure it will keep for another day.

Back on the ferry, I went to the top deck, where the view is great, and watched the blue waters flow by, the gulls, boats, and far off, the mountains.

Picked up by my brother Jim, and after a visit at his home, I was shortly on my way to Dennis' at Port Moody, where I layed low for a couple of days, whipping that miserable cold into shape, before the last foray, which took us out to Mission to visit a couple of families there. This day the traffic was not quite so frantic, and we had no long hang ups on the way.

One of the families here also had a new baby, this one a girl, Kate Arnold. They have a Grant Arnold too, a few years older. It's nice to see the grandparents' names used again...a continuity.

A part of my last day in B.C. we went to a beach at White Rock with Angie and Denise and the two little girls, a joyful day, and so many lovely scenes to remember.

BE CAREFUL OUT THERE!
FARM SAFELY.

Farm Safety - this week and all year long

- * Know where your children are at all times.
- * Never allow passengers on any piece of farm machinery.
- * Shields and guards on machinery should always be in place.
- * Equipment that might fail such as front-end loaders should be kept in the down position.
- * Always remove the keys from self-propelled machines.
- * Make all work areas off limits to children.
- * Never allow children on or in grain wagons.
- * Know where the children are before moving grain.
- * Older children helping out should be informed of all the hazards.

Public works worked hard

Dear Editor:

Re: Many Contributed to Canada Day

This article was very appreciative, but omitted some very important personnel: THE PUBLIC WORKS. They set up the chemical toilets, start cleaning streets Sunday at 6 a.m., and along with two efficient summer students, put up barricades, cleaned up after the pancake breakfast, cleaned up after the parade, etc., etc.

This is not the first time that Public Works has not received any thanks. They take a lot of pride in their work, and sometimes would like some recognition.

Editor's Note: You are absolutely right. Our apologies for omitting mention of this hard working group, whose efforts go beyond the call of duty both on Canada Day and other times during the year. Thanks, Public Works—you do a great job!

Wagons Ho!

The Happy Trails Wagon Train is set to roll off on their annual trek through the rolling hills and tall timber north and east of Elk Point this coming week. The stars signify lunch stops, while the circled numbers are overnight camping sites.

Happy Trail Wagon Trek

Once again wagon wheels are being greased, horses shod, harness polished, and wagons loaded in preparation for an adventure back to the good old days. The good old days where there were no phones, television, VHS's, microwaves, running water, or waterbeds. What do we do, you ask? We have a conversation without a phone ringing or TV interference. We get lots of fresh air, make new friends, see lots of scenic country, and the stress of everyday living leaves us, as life slows down and you have time to enjoy the little things. Come ride along for a day or two or the whole week.

Night camps are accessible by vehicles. Visitors are welcome at all camps along the trail. Come join us for some campfire coffee and a nightly singalong (bring your musical instruments if you have any).

This year's wagon train gathers Sunday at the Fort George Historical Site where participants can register, have a look around the old fort, find the Eagle Cliffs and just settle in and meet your fellow trekkers.

Monday morning starts off bright and early with a flapjack and coffee breakfast. Noontime finds us on Neil Nelson's property two miles north of Lindbergh and our overnight camp will be on Gay Hefferman's land approximately 15 miles from Fort George Historical Site.

Tuesday we will travel over the Frog Lake Trail, a trail the fur traders used. Lunchtime we stop at Bluet Lake campsite, known as Big Garnier Lake by the locals, where trekkers can rid their horses and themselves of some trail dust with a swim, if they so desire. Nighttime finds us at the southeast end of Muriel Lake where we will spend Wednesday swimming, participating in games or just relaxing and enjoying the good old outdoors. A potluck supper will be held at 5:00 p.m., everyone welcome.

Thursday morning, trekkers are eager to hit the trail after a relaxing day at the lake. We travel through Kehewin Reserve with our nightcamp two miles east of Kehewin Lake campsite, one mile north, then two miles east on Range Gas Well road.

Friday we travel to the top of Moose Mountain at the towers, where a long lunch break will enable everyone to have a birds eye view of the area. A barbecue supper, awards presentation, and dance at Spring Park Hall will bring this year's trek to an end. The barbecue supper and dance is open to nontrekkers for a $ 6.00 fee.

Saturday is a time to say so long to new friends and make plans to come again next year.

For more information call Fae Irvine at 724-4027 or Jenny Scott at 724-2387 after 5:00 p.m.

Gun club hosts shoot

On Saturday, July 21, the Elk Point and District Gun Club held its second annual Gopher Control Shoot. The weather cooperated fully and the shooters enjoyed a good day.

First prize, consisting of $ 50 and 750 rounds of .22 ammunition, went to the team of Dale Lovell and Brian Bykewich.

Second place went to Mike Sommerville and Darrell May with a score of 137. This prize consisted of a steak dinner for two and $ 25.

The team of Don Aarbo and Rocky Botting tied with Joe Seraniak (whose partner was absent) and split among them the following merchandise prizes: 2 pairs of shooting glasses, 2 ammo boxes, 1 case .22 ammunition.

The Gun Club would like to extend a sincere thanks to the sponsors of the event: Phil's Hardware, Captain's Quarters (Lloydminster), Sorrel Holdings Ltd., Sylvestre's Sports (Bonnyville), Lloydminster Heavy Crude, BMW Monarch.

DAY CARE REFORMS

For Information
Call 1-800-661-9691

Important reforms to the Alberta Day Care Program have been announced. These reforms are the culmination of public input on proposals contained in the White Paper on reforms to Alberta's Day Care Program.

Four brochures explain different aspects of the reforms and are available upon request. Check below and telephone for the one that seems best suited to your needs.

- Highlights - Day Care Reforms - provides a basic summary of the reforms.
- Alberta Day Care Reforms - in-depth outline of all of the reforms.
- Day Care Funding Reforms - gives details on operating allowances and child care subsidies.
- Day Care Licensing Reforms - focuses on staff training, staff:child ratios and drop-in centres.

To receive copies by mail telephone toll-free 1-800-661-9691.

Or ask for brochures at constituency offices of Members of the Legislative Assembly, who will soon receive their copies.

Hire-A-Student takes on Town of Elk Point

As part of a final closing ceremony, the Hire-A-Student team will take on the Town of Elk Point in a slowpitch game, to be held tomorrow, at 7:00 p.m., at the Elk Point Recreational Grounds. The action promises to be exciting, so come on out and cheer on your favourite team.

The Elk Point Hire-A-Student office officially closed last Thursday, but the St. Paul Hire-A-Student office will remain open until August 3rd. So, if you feel a student could help you around the home or office, call Hire-A-Student today at 645-6019. Whether it is for an hour, a day, a week or more, we have many students eager to work for you.

To all those employers and homeowners who hired a student this summer, Hire-A-Student would like to say THANK YOU! Your support for the Hire-A-Student program is appreciated, but more importantly, you have helped a student gain valuable work experience while earning a summer's wage. A special thanks goes out to the following businesses for their generous support: Lakeland Review and Publishing for helping with the promotion of Hire-A-Student, Tags Food and Gas for letting students use their water and parking lot in last week's car wash, Bumper to Bumper for the donation of car wash soap, the Golden Loaf Bakery for their delicious doughnuts which were donated for the Grand Opening, and last, but not least, the Town of Elk Point for providing office space and hiring six students!

The St. Paul Hire-A-Student office will remain open until August 3rd so anyone wishing to hire a student in Elk Point and area may still do so. Simply call 645-6019 and we will be glad to help you. Thank you for your support and have a very good summer.

Set To Square Off

This dangerous looking duo is Elk Point Town Administrator Pat Vincent and Hire-A-Student Placement Officer Lawrence Richer, whose teams will go against each other in Slow Pitch action tomorrow night on the Rec Land diamond 1. Vincent's lineup includes "The Sultan of Swat," Bruce Kleeberger and "Shoeless Charlie" Mahon. Richer's team lineup is secret, but he assures us they will give the Town a run for their money.

Elk Point Library

New books, new music

A set of books newly donated to the library is The Enchanted World Series by the editors of Time Life Books: Fairies and Elves, Dragons, Wizards and Witches and Legends of Valor. Dive into the world of fantasy as you enjoy these four imaginatively illustrated books.

Two other books donated are Overcoming Dyslexia by Beve Hornsby, PhD, and The Two World Wars by Susanne Everett and Brigadier Peter Young. Thanks to everyone that so kindly donated their books to the library, we appreciate it very much and it helps our book budget.

Two mini-series that are presently on TV are "Piece of Cake" and "Tanamera." These books are available in the library.

Six new music cassette tapes in the library are: Crying by Roy Orbison and k. d. lang, Full Moon Fever by Tom Petty, Slip Of The Tongue by Whitesnake, Copperhead Road by Steve Earle, and for the children, Disney Songtapes The Best of Disney, Volumes 1 and 2. For all you Large Print Book enthusiasts, we have received another box of large print books in this shipment are: At High Risk by Palma Harcourt, Nurse Jean's Strange Case by Arlene Hale, The Forgotten Story by Winston Graham, Mr. Jacobson's War, Twice Shy by Dick Francis, The sinister Starsby James Pattinson, and Blindfolded by Antony Melville-Ross.

What's news at the library?

The Summer Reading Program continued this week with the elementary program featuring the octopus, games, and construction of a mural of our town. The preschool program consisted of stories, the puppet show "I Know An Old Lady Who Swallowed A Fly" and a stained glass window craft. Last week's children's matinee on Thursday afternoon was "Heidi." The classical movie featuring child star Shirley Temple was enjoyed by all. This week, the children's matinee at 3:00 p.m., on Thursday afternoon, will be "The Prince And The Pauper." Come and join us Tuesday morning, at 10:00 a.m., for the elementary program and Friday morning, at 10:00 a.m., for the preschool program. There is no charge for any of the Summer Reading Program events.

The Price Of Victory edited by Robert Lynn Asprin and Lynn Abbey is the fourth book in the series "Thieves' World." This book draws the Thieves' World saga, including The Shattered Sphere, Sanctuary and Cross-Currents to an immensely satisfying conclusion.

Thank You
The family of Gordon Arnott wish to thank you for your presence at the funeral of Gordon.
Sincere thanks for your donations to the Crippled Children's Fund.
Special thanks to Dr. Estey, Dr. McNeilly, and the staff of the Elk Point Municipal Hospital, also to Reverend Sam Donaldson.
Thank you to John Yewchin and staff for your assistance and kindness.

The Arnott Family
Thank You

We would like to extend a special thank you to our children Carl, Gayle, and Melanie and our parents Olive Nelson and Alf & Vera Fakeley for everything they did towards putting on our anniversary party and making it a success. To Donna Brunet, Ellen Seward, Diana Anderson and Carolyn Onusko for all their work and the skit they put on. To our attendants who were all able to be with us - Donna Brunet (Goodsoil), Ellen Seward (Lindbergh), Carole Pruden (Toronto), Gary Fakeley (Ardrossan), Gerald Cameron (Spruce Grove), George Anderson (Lindbergh). Special thanks to all who helped and brought squares, etc., for the supper. Thanks to Diane Hawryluk and son for arranging and serving it. Lorne Young and Laverne Wilson for tending bar. Thank you for all the beautiful cards, monetary donations and gifts. We really appreciated everything and especially your being able to be with us to celebrate our 25th. Hope you all enjoyed yourselves as we did.

10th annual invitational Kubasa Kapers

By Faye Smith

Saturday, July 21 saw approximately 250 people gather at the farm of Ray and Lorraine Danyluk for the 10 km race. There were almost 100 runners or walkers, from the youngest, Monica Naber, to the oldest, Cliff Swedgan and Jean Charlton. The children's race was 4.5 km. The race began a fun-filled afternoon for any that still had the stamina to continue, and most did.

There was a horseshoe competition, races for all ages, a tug-of-war contest, and a mechanical bull to ride. These competitions were for all age groups starting from as young as they wanted to as old. A family tug-of-war competition was held with a team consisting of mother, father, and two children. The children could not be older than nineteen. Needless to say, there were a lot of instant adoptions going on for the people whose children did not fit in the category. Just excellent fun for everyone and very well organized. It was thanks to the hard work of quite a few people that the day went so well. Thanks also to the sponsors for the amazing array of trophies and prizes that were won.

Kubasa Run: 1) John Kocher; 2) Bruce Gainer; 3) Oliver Zarowny.

Ladies: 1) Val Stewart; 2) Sandra Ockerman; 3) Shannon Capjack.

Heavyweights: 1) Art Lypka; 2) Jim Forrest; 3) David Zarowny.

Old Timers: 1) Cliff Swedgan; 2) Gunther May; 3) Bruce Gainer.

Lawyers Challenge: 1) Vic Stepa; 2) Brian O'Ferrall; 3) Ken Garwasiuk.

Couples: 1) Vic Stepa, Sandra Ockerman; 2) Val Stewart, Bruce Gainer; 3) Kim Savard, Jim Forrest.

4.5 km run for the kids, ages 0 to 12 years: Monica Naber was the youngest competitor to complete the race at 5 years, one month. 7 to 9

Boys: 1) Greg Zarowny; 2) Duncan Mackenzie; 3) Chris Garwasiuk.

Girls: 1) Michelle Hutton; 2) Tracy Kubista; 3) Claudia Naber. 10 to 12

Boys: 1) Jeremy Dawe; 2) Jason Cabaj; 3) Kory Garwasiuk. Girls: 1)

Eran MacKenzie; 2) Robyn Danyluk; 3) Christina Kubista. Teens: 1) Oliver

Report from the Legislature

Legislation will protect financial consumers

By John Drobot

MLA, St. Paul Constituency

The provincial government has introduced comprehensive new legislation to protect consumers of financial products and services. The proposed legislation is the first of its kind in Canada, and is expected to set the standard for similar legislation across the country.

Bill 19, the Financial Consumers Act, addresses the needs of a complex and rapidly evolving marketplace by focusing on the transaction between consumers and sellers of financial services and products.

The proposed legislation sets out responsibilities for business. In future, a company selling a financial product or service will be required to provide important information. This would include such things as the identity of the supplier, penalties, insolvency protection, and whether or not an agent is paid by commission. The bill will also require that companies provide audited financial statements to the consumer before a sale is made.

Bill 19 will require financial institutions and similar businesses to use understandable wording in consumer contracts and other documents or material. This is the first government-sponsored legislation in Canada to require documents to be written in easy to understand language and form.

Consumers have responsibilities under the proposed legislation as well. They must become better informed about the products and services they purchase. They must inform business of any relevant information about the purchase and must attempt to resolve any problems that arise.

An important element of the Financial Consumers Act is the resolution of disputes between consumers and sellers of financial products and services through arbitration. This mechanism will result in quicker, more equitable solutions to problems and will lower the number of cases handled through the courts.

Introduction of the Financial Consumers Act is just one element of the government's commitment to the protection of consumers within a fair and honest marketplace. Over the last couple of years, a new Credit Union Act was passed, the Alberta Securities Commission was reorganized and amendments to the Securities Act were passed. Changes to the Trust and Loan Corporation Act are also expected to be introduced during this session of the Legislature.

If you would like more information about the Financial Consumers Act, please feel free to contact me.

Crop report

Good haying weather is not necessarily conducive to crop growth. The hot, dry days which permitted local farmers to get much of their hay crop off is severely depleting soil moisture, to a point where moisture conditions are rated as poor, and plant growth prospects range from poor for summerfallow to very poor for stubble.

Spring wheat and canola have only a 60 percent chance of becoming a good crop, with oats rated at 50 percent and barley at 40 percent.

Wheat has virtually all headed out, with 20 percent of it filling, while 90 percent of barley has headed, with 60 percent filling. Canola is all blooming at this time.

Crops are still holding, but more rain is very badly needed.

Starscope

By Eileen Norby

The wind has been known by many names. It is mystical and was probably man's first link with the spiritual. It is invisible. It can creep up out of nowhere and tickle the back of your neck, or throw you flat on your face. It has no shape, size, smell, taste or sound of its own. All its properties are borrowed, all our experience of it comes second hand. We have nothing to work with but indirect effects. It is big enough and strong enough to tear trees, houses, automobiles from the very Earth and yet can seep through a hairline crack. Wind is elusive, shifty, fugitive, difficult to define, and impossible to ignore.

While we are speaking of the unknown, what are stars made of and why do they shine? Stars are made mostly of hydrogen and they shine because of the huge amount of energy being produced by nuclear fusion reactions taking place at their core. The light from stars comes from the fusion of hydrogen atoms to form helium. Stars form from giant collapsing gas clouds. As the gases crush together, the pressure and heat get so great that the hydrogen atoms in the gas begin to fuse together, to form helium. That reaction gives off many forms of energy, including visible light. We watch the stars from Earth. It spins around the solar system like a top, making one complete spin every 24 hours and one trip around our Sun (Leo) every 365.25 days. Another interesting fact about our planet is that the Earth is oblate, not round. It is flat at the North and South Pole.

Aries

A sudden connection with an unusual person makes you dance with life's many charms. Follow rules you set for yourself. Someone is pushing you too far. You want to spank that someone rebelliously. It'll only make it worse! Arrogant people may talk to you without comprehending you.

Taurus

You need more self-control to reduce power struggle. You are riding high in the limelight regardless of your surroundings. Try to eliminate unnecessary worry. Secret knowledge keeps hopes afloat. Surrender to destiny. Sex attraction blossoms when you go where your heart leads.

Gemini

You're feeling a little rebuffed. Rest a bit, compromise rather than push, submit to calm. You approach victory by eliminating travel. It's a turning point for your relationship to enjoy deep unity. You find order and success at home. It's wise to be faithful to what is trustworthy.

Cancer

Your spiritual needs are uppermost. It's good to relax with special folk, reliable folk, peaceful, non-flashy folk. It's smart to stay with what will pay off in the long run. Your mate is moody! Let yourself be a little foolish; go on that adventure and you'll both discover each other's needs.

Leo

Your mind works to build up a way to pass over sadness. You can conquer anything, just join hands with someone special to recuperate through calm, quiet efforts. You will find inner harmony. You need space to let your talents dance. Sex attraction is changeable, fascinating, fresh.

Virgo

Such charming people have come to your home as visitors. You overcome a crisis regarding a hidden secret. Be careful of tricky schemes. Irked by duties, you rebel a little, then laugh with family, co-workers. You must be fair. Your moods are swinging low. Look up!

Libra

Focus on ultimate security. To work magic, abide by your decisions. Compromise is essential in any relationship. Self-control benefits your rebellious nature. It's good to take your time when things look bleak. Coast, with freely flowing interests. Be alert!

Scorpio

You feel alone, yet you appreciate your own power. You are mentally energetic, with an increase in prosperity. You have realized your mission. It's good to let yourself laugh. Magic comes from service and dedication to work. Count your blessings, don't be flustered by obligations.

Sagittarius

You prefer to be alone, somewhat hurt by tricky money matters. You are dedicated to your work and find some humour in it at times. Home has been a place of comfort, a place for your imperious needs. Love remains, despite differing tastes. Loyal to what you know, you find harmony.

Capricorn

Life seems so unfair at times, Cappie! Your mood has sunk way down. Regulate home and work, with that done you'll dance happily.

You have such a demanding schedule. You feel inner peace, in spite of travelling so far to work. You shared beautiful moments.

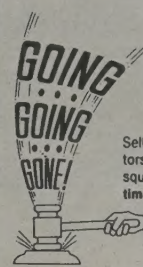

Aquarius

It is good to be at home. Human relations are under quite a strain. Someone's affectionate response brings what you've wanted. You realize higher hopes and coast with life's promise. Be calm and harmo-

Pisces

Avoid any escapade which would exhaust you. Give love a breathing spell, agree to disagree. You are riding high, efficient, masterful. Good fortune is flowing your way. Be your own friend, yet take that outstretched hand and enjoy life's pleasures fully.
